Wenther, Rivers and Rusiness. Yesterday was warm, but we were favored with a good breeze most of the day, which moderated the heat, and brought the thermometer down to something like a comfortable stage. The river declined two inches, and now stands four feet seven inches above low water mark. A fourteen-inch rise at Pittsburg and injusteen inches at Lanc. Pittsburg, and nineteen inches at Leavenworth, are the only important changes from a continued decline at every point. Six and a baif feet at Plum Point is the latest. Business very dull.
